Abstract : Communities in Kapuas Regency, Central Kalimantan have a legend about Nyai Undang. The Nyai Undang legend is celebrated every year in traditional ceremonies by the Dayak people in Kapuas. This study aims to find out the legend of Nyai Undang, analyze the relationship between the legend of Nyai Undang and history in Kapuas Regency, and explore the values of the legend of Nyai Undang, analyze the legend of Nyai Undang for learning Social Sciences in Kapuas District. This research was carried out with a qualitative approach, interviews were conducted with the community and Dayak community leader in Kapuas District, and document tracking was carried out in the form of old texts, observations were made on historical relics that were in the location and owned by some members of the community. The results showed that Nyai Undang was a female figure in Kapuas District, namely Tanjung Penantang Sewang. Nyai Undang has maintained its pride from an impolitic attitude from a guest. Nyai Undang defended his territory from attacks by enemies who would seize his territory. The legend of Nyai Undang has values related to norms, morals, and enthusiasm. These values are found in the competencies of social science subjects. The conclusion of the study is that the legend of Nyai Undang contains a history of a female character and nasal proposal somewhere in the Kapuas District of Central Kalimantan. The values in the legend of Nyai Undang can be a material for learning social science in Central Kalimantan, especially Kapuas District.

1. INTRODUCTION

Legend holds traditions, norms, and values in society. Legend can be a guideline for community life, religion and culture. Legend in a society is recreational and educational, because legend is often conveyed in stories, traditional arts (songs, dance, acting), people enjoy through festivals, or electronic media. Legend in a society is an educational tool to introduce values, morals, figures in legend can be role models (examples) about leadership, mutual cooperation, defend the weak, and work together (Sudini, 2014).
