To the Editor of Forestry Ideas

Dear Sir/Madam,

Please find enclosed with this letter the manuscript entitled
"Plant Adaptability And Species Diversity After Coal Mining Reclamation In South Borneo"

Hari Sutikno, Syarifuddin Kadir, Hafizianor, Yusanto Nugroho

Corresponding author:

Faculty of Forestry, Universitas Lambung Mangkurat, Indonesia

This paper is part of my students' dissertation. He needs a published article to take the final exam. We hope you can help us and consider this manuscript as a publication in Forestry Ideas. Here is the abstract:

Reclamation is an important activity to support ecosystem recovery after mine closure. The success of this effort depends on plant adaptability to environmental pressure, primarily related to high-acidity soil. However, there needs to be more information about plant adaptability in reclamation sites, although it is required to determine the alternative species for supporting revegetation efforts. This study investigated the adaptability of multiple tree species used for coal mining reclamation and assessed their essential role in enhancing biodiversity in the degraded ecosystem. An ecological survey was conducted using a transect line method with a sampling plot size of 20×20 m and an interval from each 50 m. This study found that seven species were used to support the reclamation efforts in the study site, i.e., Aleurites moluccana, Archidendron pauciflorum, Artocarpus heterophyllus, Artocarpus integer, Durio zibethinus, Hevea brasiliensis, and Mangifera casturi. The survival across species was 78.60–89.39%, with a height of 64.75–133.94 cm and a diameter of 0.59–1.39 cm. The species diversity was low, with a richness of 0.98 and a heterogeneity of 0.84. These species also had an unbalanced distribution pattern with an evenness index of 0.43. These findings showed that the selected plant species had good adaptability to the environmental conditions of the reclamation site. Although their contribution to biodiversity improvement was still low, there was a positive contribution from these species to biodiversity recovery after the mine closure. Further investigation is still required to monitor the long-term benefits of these species on ecosystem recovery in the reclamation area.

Sincerely yours,
Yusanto

Thanks Yusanto Nugroho!

After the initial review, I attach the start-up file with fixes in the style of the journal. Please note that this is a working file, always work on the last sent file and follow the formatting (do not change it). Please make the necessary adjustments – look at the coloured: the green I think is right, the yellow must be checked and corrected, the red to be deleted and the heavenly are clarifications by me.

Please see the payment terms on the journal's website: https://forestry-ideas.info/instructions/instructions\_Index.php

The payment of the fee is made at the end – after the acceptance of the article in pdf format and according to the number of pages of the pdf file.

We uploading the articles to the Journal website as soon as it was accepted and the fee has been paid.

Best regards,

Prof. Milko Milev – Editor in Chief of the journal ‘Forestry Ideas’

Dear Professor Milko Milev,

Thank you for giving us an opportunity to revise this manuscript. The green highlight indicates the changed aspects of this manuscript.

We have also deleted the red highlight and provided our confirmation for blue heavenly with the bold statement.

We hope this revised version is more suitable for the Forestry Ideas.

We also agree to pay the APC when this article is accepted. We hope this article is published as soon as possible since the student needs it to take the final exam and avoid the punishment from the graduate division in our university.

Sincerely,

Yusanto Nugroho

Dear Yusanto Nugroho,

We received two reviews for your manuscript (attached R1 and R2). They contain useful remarks and recommendations. Reviewers suggested corrections and remarks to the manuscript file itself, inclusive. Please make the necessary improvements as recommended by reviewers and your view as authors. Just for unacceptable recommendations, provide brief motives. Then we will continue the review process with the improved file. Please work on the last file of your manuscript (attached now).

Dear Professor Milko Milev,

Merry Christmas for you and your family. I highly apologize for contacting you during your holiday. However, I faced a difficult situation wherein the PhD committee at my university asked me about my student's manuscript progress. He needs a published paper to avoid the dropout punishment in the next semester. Would you mind giving information about the review process?
Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dear Yusanto,

We have just received a third review (R3) of your improved manuscript (this surprised me because I was not promised). This does not significantly change what was written in the previous email.

I'll just wait to send the file to our language and style editor.

R3 contains some useful remarks and recommendations. He suggested corrections and remarks to the manuscript file itself, inclusive. Please make the necessary improvements as recommended by reviewer R3 and your view as authors. Just for unacceptable recommendations, provide brief motives. Then we will continue with language and style editing

Please work on the last file of your manuscript (attached now again - with date 26.12.2023). I expect your final file soon.

Kind regards,

Milko

A re-review has just been received from the first reviewer (R1-2 attached). He has only one remark, which refers to a sentence on lines 184-185 (I've yellowed it). Please consider and if necessary make an appropriate correction in this place.
After that, we will move on to pre-press preparation of the article.

Professor Milko Milev,

I have checked the galley proof and everything is okay. My student and I also don't have an ORCID so everything is correct.

We will process the APC payment soon and get back to you after transferring it.

Sincerely,
Yusanto

Dear Yusanto,

We do not have registration in the systems indicated by you and payment through them is not possible.

Your colleagues from Indonesia have successfully paid from banks so far. Perhaps you should check with another bank for such a possibility.

We had a case with your colleague from Indonesia where the bank could only transfer an amount in US dollars. If this happens to you, you can pay the fee in US dollars: 200 euros = 219 US dollars.

Best regards,

Milko

Dear Professor Milko,

Thank you for your prompt response. I will try to communicate with my colleague. Is it possible if I ask my friend to pay this APC? and I will send you the proof of payment.

I mean, the person's name for payment is my friend's name, but your journal will receive full payment. Please let me know

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Yusanto

Yes Yusanto,

It doesn't matter who pays. Just inform me if it is necessary for you in whose name and institution we should issue the invoice.

Best,

Milko

Thank you for your response. My friend's name is Pandu Y.A.P. Wirabuana. He also had an article in your journal. He recommended that I submit my article to your journal. I don't know his affiliation since he resigned from his previous university.

However, I still have his contact information and communicated with him yesterday. I will reach out to you soon after payment is made.

Sincerely,
Yusanto

Dear Professor Milko Milev,

Pandu has helped us make our APC payment. I have enclosed the proof of payment here.
The money should arrive in your account maximum tomorrow.
Please let me know the payment progress to ensure there is no delay.

Sincerely,
Yusanto

Dear Yusanto,
Everything is okay with your payment.
I hope we will be able to upload your article to the site tomorrow. We will upload the first 3 articles from issue 1/2024.
Yours is the 3rd.
I am attaching it now in its final form.

Best regards,
Milko
